

NORTHFIELDS SCOOPS PRESTIGIOUS AWARD

Northfields Estate Agents, which has three offices in the West London area, recently won the Silver Award in the Best Lettings category at the 2006 Estate Agency of the Year Awards, the most prestigious event in the estate agency calendar. The award for Best Lettings is open to both corporate and independent agencies across the UK and the winners had to demonstrate overall excellence across the lettings business, including areas such as customer service for tenants and landlords throughout the lettings process, staff training and development, marketing and corporate support in the community.

The panel of judges agreed that Northfields had a professional and successful lettings business, with highly trained staff who are enthusiastic about their jobs and achievements. They were also impressed by their involvement in the local community, particularly the donation of part of their fees to the Log Cabin, an adventure centre for children with disabilities and special needs. Richard Palfreeman, the owner and Managing Director of Northfields, commented: 'Having received the Estate Agency of the Year award for Training & Development in 2004, we are now thrilled to win this prestigious national award. Both of these awards recognise the excellent calibre of our staff at Northfields.' For information call 020 8840 6666 or visit www.northfields.co.uk.
