

First rate service for first time buyers and sellers in Ealing Broadway

JOHN Henry, sales director of Northfields Estate Agents, is returning to the 'front line' by launching and running the Northfields sales department at 37 The Broadway, Ealing W5 – home of Northfields' highly successful Lettings operation opposite Ealing Broadway station.

John began his estate agency career in Ealing Broadway, where he ran a successful sales office in The Mall and opened another on The Broadway.

He joined Northfields in 2001 where he increased group sales and raised service standards. He also helped them achieve Investors in People and win the prestigious Estate Agency of the Year award in 2004.

He said: "The goal of my new office is to help first-time buyers and first-time sellers safely negotiate the minefield of buying and selling their first home. Both exercises can be daunting as too many agents are either inexperienced or too busy to steer the process to a mutually satisfactory conclusion.

"My experience and my knowledge of the local market will ensure that my clients' and customers' move will be as swift and as stress-free as possible."
